

The Session Playing workshop series will use the set of reels included in PDF format. If you haven't yet learned these great tunes, you're in the right place. Have a look and familiarize yourself with them ahead of time.

If we have time in the workshop, we might also give the attached set of jigs a try, so give them a look. Sure, it couldn't hurt.

Knowing the tunes is not required for attendance, but it is recommended, so that workshop time can be focused on various aspects of ensemble playing rather than tune-learning. You can go to a billion other workshops to learn tunes. Just saying.

In the spirit of the tradition, playing by heart is encouraged, and the sheet music offered here is intended only as a reference, and is not necessarily meant to be read from during the workshop itself. Sheet music is boring.

The workshop series is progressive—come to all of them if you can!
